

Creator-led Go-to-Market: Turn Distribution into Acquisition

Creators are the heartbeat of Airblack

Airblack isn't just a library of videos; it's a living, breathing classroom where experts guide over 100 learners at a time. Our success such as our 80% completion rate and high student satisfaction comes down to one thing: the quality of the person leading the room.

Right now, we usually find out a creator is struggling only after the students give them a low rating. We want to change that by finding ways to support them before they ever lose the room.

Checking the Pulse: The Creator Health Score

Think of this as a monthly check-in (scored 0–100) to see how our creators are doing across four areas:

- Student Success (35%): Are students actually getting better? We look at their assignment scores and whether they start earning money after the course.
- Classroom Energy (25%): Is the room buzzing? We look at whether students are asking questions and staying for the whole session.
- Reliability & Freshness (25%): Are they showing up prepared and bringing new ideas to the table so the content doesn't feel stale?
- Creator Happiness (15%): Do they actually enjoy teaching here? We want creators who are excited to come back for the next batch.

A Path for Everyone to Succeed

The goal isn't just to rank people, but to give them the right kind of support based on where they are:

If a creator is...	How we support them
A Star	We celebrate them. They get priority for new launches, brand partnerships, and a bonus for their great work.
Doing Well	They stay on their steady path with regular check-ins and access to new trends to keep their classes exciting.
Struggling	We step in to help. They get paired with a Star mentor and we work together to refresh their content.
At a Crossroads	If things aren't working, we hit pause on new classes and give them a 30-day plan to improve their technique before trying again.

Why This Helps Everyone Grow

When we take care of creator quality, it creates a virtuous cycle:

1. Better teaching leads to happier students who actually finish their courses.
2. Successful students tell their friends, which brings in more people and lowers our costs.
3. A thriving community makes the best experts in the world want to teach at Airblack, which keeps the cycle going.

What Matters?

We want to make sure our incentives align with what actually makes a difference for students:

- Great Ratings: Lead to a revenue-share bonus.
- Student Income: If your students start making money, you get featured as a top creator.
- Reliability: Being on time and prepared opens doors to premium brand partnerships.

Link to Creator Health Score